The Dixie National Celebrates Golden Anniversary

By Chaille Clements
Communications and
Marketing Specialist - MDAC

Each February, 4-H and FFA members, cowboys, cowgirls, rodeo queens and clowns, country music stars, and thousands of loyal fans and spectators flock from all over the state, country and even the world to the one square mile known as the Mississippi Fairgrounds. This annual pilgrimage is due to the month long series of livestock shows, equine events, agricultural showcases, and top class rodeo entertainment known as the Dixie National Livestock Show and Rodeo. This year marks the event's golden anniversary.

The Dixie National began in 1965 as the brainchild of four Jackson visionaries and has grown into a multi-million dollar event that draws in well over 100,000 visitors to the fairgrounds each year. "Over the past 50 years, the Dixie National Livestock Show and Rodeo has touched the lives of many, not only right here in Mississippi but also around the country," Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Cindy Hyde-Smith said. "From the professional cowboys and cowgirls that compete for titles and pride to the young women who wear the crown of Rodeo Queen and, of course, the loyal fans who anticipate the thrill of the show each year, this event continues to flourish as a time honored tradition held treasured by so many."

There will be many special activities to honor and remember the 50 grand years the Dixie National has accomplished. To kick off the golden celebration, the Dixie National Livestock Show and Rodeo 50th Anniversary Gala will be held on February 10, at the Mississippi Trade Mart. This nostalgic gala will serve as a tribute to Dixie National's rich heritage in the State of Mississippi by taking guests on a journey through half a century of the rodeo's cowboys, cowgirls, announcers, rodeo queens and, of course, iconic clowns. Mike Mathis, "Mr. Rodeo" himself, will host the event, while the Bellamy Brothers will perform as a tribute to Dixie National's customary celebration of country and western music. The night will draw to a close with a performance by local band Miles Flatt and plenty of dancing.

The 4-H and FFA livestock shows continue to be the heart of the Dixie National drawing in 1,700 4-H and FFA youth and around 3,000 head of livestock in 2014. At the five annual district shows, hundreds of FFA and 4-H members show their market animals, with only those receiving blue ribbons making the Mississippi Junior Roundup at the Dixie National. The crowning glory of these shows is the Sale of Junior Champions, which will be held at 11:30 a.m. on Thursday, February 12, at the Trade Mart. The sales of the 2014 event totaled $369,150, which exceeded the previous year's record total by more than $50,000. For a schedule and details on these events, see pages 14 and 15.

The much-anticipated rodeo begins on February 12 and continues through February 18. The best of Smith, Harper and Morgan rodeo stock will be on display as cowboys and cowgirls compete for titles, prizes and pride. Special entertainers are featured at the conclusion of the rodeo each evening. This year's musical entertainment lineup includes Montgomery Gentry, Dan & Shay, Brothers Osborne, Ronnie Mil-sap, Jerrod Niemann, The Swon Brothers and David Nail.

The always fun and lively Dixie National Parade will get under way at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, February 14, on the downtown streets of Jackson. This festive event includes an array of car clubs, floats, motorcycles, marching groups, horses, wagons, riding clubs, beauty queens, and much more. For up-to-date information on the parade, special 50th anniversary activities, other rodeo events, tickets, concerts, and schedules, download the Dixie National Livestock Show and Rodeo mobile app from the Apple or Android store, visit www.dixienational.org, or call 601-961-4000.

Commissioner of Agriculture and Commerce Cindy Hyde-Smith welcoming the rodeo fans to the 2014 Dixie National Livestock Show and Rodeo. The Dixie National is the largest professional rodeo east of the Mississippi River.

Riding the Trails & Camp Fire Favorites

Over the Fire Scalloped Potatoes

8 large baking potatoes, peeled and diced
1 bunch green onions, sliced
1 10-ounce can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
Black pepper to taste
Garlic salt to taste
1/2 cup crumbled crisply cooked bacon (optional)
1/2 cup sautéed mushrooms (optional)
1/2 cup butter

Preheat grill for medium heat. Prepare 8 pieces of aluminum foil with vegetable cooking spray. Combine potatoes, green onion, soup, cheese, (and bacon and mushrooms, if using) in a bowl. Season to taste with garlic salt and pepper. Evenly divide the potato mixture among the squares of aluminum foil; dot with butter. Fold mixture into foil packets, sealing well. Cook foil packets on the grill for 12 to 20 minutes, until the potatoes have cooked.

Sausage Chowder

1 pound polish sausage, sliced
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 clove garlic or garlic powder to taste
1 small onion, chopped
1/4 cup green bell pepper, chopped
3 to 5 diced potatoes
1 large can tomato puree (or crushed tomatoes)
1 can corn
Water to cover potatoes

In a Dutch oven or large pot, simmer sausage in oil until sausage is heated, and add garlic, onion, peppers, and sauté for 3 minutes or until onion is translucent. Add tomato puree, potatoes and corn. Simmer until the potatoes are tender.

Campfire Cabbage

2-3 slices bacon, chopped
1 large onion, chopped
1 head of cabbage, chopped
Salt and pepper to taste
Garlic powder to taste

In a large Dutch oven or frying pan, sauté bacon until it is very crispy. Add the onion and cabbage; stir until the cabbage is wilted. Add enough water to cover the cabbage; bring to a boil. Cook until most of the water has evaporated and cabbage is to the desired tenderness. If necessary, add more water. Add seasoning to taste.

Biscuit on a Stick

Clean stick or Dowel Rod, approximately 3/4" in diameter
Canned biscuits
Squeeze butter
Honey

Wrap one biscuit around the end of the stick so that none of the stick is showing. Roast over the fire until it is golden brown. The biscuit will pull right off of the stick. Squeeze the butter and honey down into the hole that the stick made. Use canned pie filling for an optional taste. Delicious!

Ham & Sweet Potato Foil Packets

Cubed ham
Cubed Sweet potatoes
Cubed apple

The amount of these ingredients depend on how many people will be served. Place everything in a thick foil packet that has been sealed tightly. Cook on hot coals for approximately 1/2 hour, or until potatoes are tender, turning every 15 minutes. The moisture from the cooking apples make a delicious sauce without using butter.

Sweet & Salty Trail Mix

1 large bag of M&M's
1 jar of roasted & salted peanuts
2 jars of salted & shelled sunflower seeds
1-2 cups of raisins

Just toss everything into a bowl and stir thoroughly. Eat around the campfire or place in small zip-lock bags for easy munching as you hike!

2015 Miss Rodeo Mississippi and Miss Dixie National Pageant Results

By DeShannon Davis, PhD
Miss Rodeo Foundation

The Miss Rodeo Mississippi Foundation is proud to announce the winners of the 40th Annual Miss Rodeo Mississippi Pageant and the 41st Miss Dixie National Pageant. The pageant was held January 10, 2015, on the Mississippi State Fairgrounds in Jackson, Miss., with the winners being featured at the Dixie National Livestock Show and Rodeo in February.

Laura Sumrall, of Summit, Miss., in Pike County, was selected as the 2015 Mississippi Rodeo Mississippi to promote the sport of rodeo and the State of Mississippi. She will represent Mississippi at all Professional Rodeo Cowboy Association (PRCA) events statewide and abroad for a period of one year, as well as compete for the title of Miss Rodeo America in Las Vegas, Nevada, in December 2015. Laura, who is the daughter of Hiram and Dr. Dawn Sumrall, is a Senior Agricultural Communications major at Texas A&M University. She is currently the captain of the Texas A&M Equestrian team.

Summer Weldon, of Martin, Tenn., was selected Miss Dixie National for 2015. Summer won all three divisions of the pageant (Horsemanship, Personality and Appearance) and was awarded Most Photogenic. She will be featured at events such as the Dixie National Livestock Show, Rodeo and Pageant in Jackson, as well as the Tri-State Rodeo Association Finals. Summer is a Junior at Westview High School, where she is involved in High School Rodeo, FFA, Spanish Club, and Anchor Club. Last year, Summer finished sixth in the nation in girls cutting at the National High School Rodeo Finals in Rock Springs, Wyoming. First Alternate was Vanessa Ratliff of Learned, Miss. Mary Ashley Rohrscheib of Falkville, Ala., was Second Runner Up. Chloe Ann Payne of Biloxi, Miss., was Third Alternate and won Most Photogenic.

Gracie Danielle Newell, of Meridian, Miss., was crowned this year's Jr. Miss Dixie National. She is the 13-year-old daughter of Dr. Daniel and Amy Newell and attends Southeast Middle School. She has won many rodeo honors over the years, but the most recent was qualifying for the National Little Britches Finals in Pole Bending, where she finished sixth in the nation. First Runner Up was Kali Grace Cotten, of Yazoo City, Miss.; Second Alternate was Laura Flowers of Vicksburg, Miss.; and Carla Collins of Pontotoc, Miss., was Third Runner Up. Gracie won the Horsemanship category, while Kali Grace brought home the Appearance, Photogenics and Personality categories. Laura was voted Laura Sumrall of Summit, Miss., was crowned 2015 Miss Rodeo Mississippi.

USDA Announces More Than $18 Million to Support Training and Development for Beginning Farmers and Ranchers

By Sarah Scanlon
Deputy Director
Office of External &
Intergovernmental Affairs - USDA

U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Deputy Secretary Krysta Harden announced the availability of more than $18 million in funding to help educate, mentor and enhance the sustainability of the next generation of farmers. This support is available through the Beginning Farmer and Rancher Development Program (BFRDP), administered by USDA's National Institute for Food and Agriculture (NIFA). Winning awards from last year's application cycle will be announced in the near future.

"The Beginning Farmer and Rancher Development Program is critical for cultivating the next generation of farmers and ranchers, who will be integral to sustaining America's agricultural future," said Harden. "Leading community and service organizations are on the front lines when it comes to identifying and training new farmers and ranchers. Strong partnerships with these groups are the key to our success."

The Beginning Farmer and Rancher Development Program awards grants to organizations implementing programs to train beginning farmers and ranchers, including workshops, educational teams, training, and technical assistance throughout the United States.

Fiscal Year 2015 applications for BFRDP are due March 13, 2015. Eligible applicants are collaborative, state, tribal, local, or regionally-based network or partnership of public or private entities, including state cooperative extension service; community-based and nongovernmental organization; colleges or universities (including institutions awarding associate degrees); or any other appropriate organization providing services to beginning farmers and ranchers.

At least five percent of the funds must go to projects that serve military veteran beginning farmers and ranchers, and at least five percent to projects that serve socially-disadvantaged, limited-resource, or farmworker audiences. All applicants are required to provide funds or in-kind support from non-federal sources in an amount that is at least equal to 25 percent of the federal funds requested.

Priority topics are:

- Basic livestock, forest management, and crop farming practices;
- Innovative farm, ranch, and private, nonindustrial forest land transfer strategies;

- Entrepreneurship and business training;
- Financial and risk management training (including the acquisition and management of agricultural credit);
- Natural resource management and planning;
- Diversification and marketing strategies;
- Curriculum development;
- Mentoring, apprenticeships, and internships;
- Resources and referral;
- Farm financial benchmarking;
- Assisting beginning farmers or ranchers in acquiring land from retiring farmers and ranchers;
- Agricultural rehabilitation and vocational training for veterans;
- Farm safety and awareness; and
- Other similar subject areas of use to beginning farmers or ranchers.

NIFA will host a webinar for interested applicants on Wednesday, February 11, 2015, from 2:00-4:00 p.m. EST. No password or advance reservation is required. A recording will be posted on the NIFA website shortly after the event.

From 2009-2012, 145 awards have been made for more than $71 million through the Beginning Farmer and Rancher Development Program. Additional information about USDA support for new farmers and ranchers is available at www.usda.gov/newfarmers.

Funding for BFRDP program is authorized by the 2014 Farm Bill. The Farm Bill builds on historic economic gains in rural America over the past five years, while achieving meaningful reform and billions of dollars in savings for taxpayers. Since enactment, USDA has made significant progress to implement each provision of this critical legislation, including providing disaster relief to farmers and ranchers; strengthening risk management tools; expanding access to rural credit; funding critical research; establishing innovative public-private conservation partnerships; developing new markets for rural-made products; and investing in infrastructure, housing and community facilities to help improve quality of life in rural America. For more information, visit www.usda.gov/farmbill.

Through federal funding and leadership for research, education and extension programs, NIFA focuses on investing in science and solving critical issues impacting people's daily lives and the nation's future. More information is at: www.nifa.usda.gov.

Iron Heirlooms

By Lise Foy, Director
MS Agriculture & Forestry Museum

Some things we keep as family heirlooms may seem strange to other people. Some things that are utilitarian may not seem like things that should be passed from generation to generation, but then again, why not? I have my grandmother's cast iron claw-foot bathtub in my new house, and my husband has recovered the 200 Farmall tractor that belonged to his grandfather. You may remember that story from my August 1, 2014 article. These durable things are now our treasured family heirlooms.

My Mamaw made her cornbread in a square skillet. That skillet went to college with my brothers. Before I joined those brothers at Mississippi State, there was a roommate who lived with them who was cooking-impaired. He burned green beans. He filled every pot with rice because he cooked the whole bag at one time, and it just grew and grew. And, he put the cast iron skillet in the dishwasher!

Luckily, cast iron can be re-seasoned. The skillet was recovered and is still in use at one brother's house today, where my sister-in-law makes cornbread probably almost daily for two teenage sons and her husband. There are other pieces of cast iron cookware that have been passed down in our family from mother to daughter, mother-in-law to daughter-in-law, and mother to son.

Cast iron vessels have been used for cooking for hundreds of years. These heavy pots were treasured as kitchen items for their durability and their ability to retain heat. Their design has changed and developed over the years, from features like handles and legs allowing them to hang over or stand up in the fire, to flat bottom pans designed for cooking on a stove. It was during the late 19th century that the flat cast iron skillet came into use. Most early American households had at least one cast iron cooking pan.

During the Dixie National Rodeo, the Ag Museum will feature At Home on the Farmstead, February 12-18. Visitors will have the opportunity to experience living history demonstrations at the Fortenberry-Parkman Farmstead including cleaning and seasoning of cast iron pots and Dutch oven cooking. Other live demonstrations will include blacksmithing, pot throwing, quilting and weaving. Call us ahead of time for specific schedules as our interpreters will rotate these demonstrations of early farm life activities.

My husband and I treasure these iron heirlooms we have been given or recovered. I would guess that our grandparents might think it is funny that we hold dear a bathtub, a skillet and a tractor. But, they keep us in touch with a way of life that did not offer many of the modern conveniences we enjoy today. They keep us thankful for the many blessings in our lives.

Many of the objects at the Ag Museum have family history attached to them. The stories are what make them special and interesting. Like that bathtub that had only three legs and propped on a brick at my grandmother's house, each artifact has a story. As we continue our artifact inventory, we learn stories about each item and connect the history of the people of Mississippi through the objects we exhibit. We are proud to be the caretakers of the heirlooms we are entrusted with.

Now, about that 200 Farmall tractor...my husband has an update.

By Jamie Foy

A while back, I told about my Papaw Leo Brown's Farmall tractor that was sold after his death and my desire to get it back. I am proud to report that the mission has been accomplished, and there is now a bright red 1956 Model 200 Farmall sitting under our barn.

Thanks to Mr. David Longest, the interim owner, the old tractor is in better shape than when it left us. A new coat of paint and a few minor repairs have it looking and running pretty good for a machine that is almost 60 years old. I am not sure what made Mr. Longest agree to let me buy it back. Maybe he saw my original article and was sympathetic or maybe it was because I cheated just a little in our negotiations. On Christmas day, we went to visit Mr. Longest and took along our 17 month old twin girls, Josey and Katy. As soon as Josey saw the tractor, she wanted to sit on it. I figure it would have been pretty hard to say no, while that little girl was having so much fun "driving" her great grandfather's tractor. Whatever the reason, when Mr. Longest said yes, it was the best Christmas present I had received in a long time.

It is hard to explain exactly why this old tractor means so much to me and why my feelings toward it have changed over the past few years. After all, I turned down the chance to get the tractor before it was sold. So, why the change of heart and the subsequent mission to get it back? While the old Farmall is definitely a sentimental reminder of my Papaw, it has become something more than that. My grandfather was born in 1924 and was a member of what has come to be known as the Greatest Generation. I have always had the utmost respect for that generation. His tractor has become a connection to a people who were not scared of hard work and built things to last.

I believe that the time I have spent volunteering at the Mississippi Ag Museum has played a big part in establishing a link to the past and that change of heart I mentioned earlier. Working with the mules, repairing an old surrey, and watching the cotton gin and Small Town come to life has given me an intimate appreciation of how our ancestors lived and worked. You can read historical accounts of the way things used to be all you want, but until you get hands-on-experience, you can't truly envision the labor and raw skill it took to make a living before the advent of our modern conveniences. I know there are several of you out there that follow some of the "old ways" even if it is just as a hobby. My hat is off to you, and I am glad to know that there are people keeping old traditions and skills alive. This tractor has become a very personal way for me to keep a little bit of history alive in my own way.

Papaw's old Farmall is now relegated to driveway maintenance and maybe some light garden work. Even so, every time I climb into that well-worn seat and grip the same steering wheel that my grandfather's hands spent so many hours on, I have this vision of him starting it up early in the morning knowing that a full day of work was the only way he was going to keep his family fed. Papaw Leo has been gone for several years now, but I imagine that even with its new paint job, there is still some of his blood and sweat hidden in that old iron, and I know that he rides with me every time I climb on.

The Ag Museum is located at 1150 Lakeland Drive in Jackson and is open Monday through Saturday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. In addition to our gallery and exhibit spaces, the Ag Museum also has room for your event, whether it's a meeting, a wedding, or other special event. Dixie National Livestock Show and Rodeo 50th Anniversary

By Janna Hughes
Dixie National Gala Event
& Claude Nash, Editor
Mississippi Market Bulletin

Thanks to a hand full of Jackson visionaries....Mississippi Agriculture Commissioner Si Corley, H. H. Annison, Robert Stockett, Sr., Herman Massey, Percy Quinn and Kendall Quinn, the Dixie National Livestock Show and Rodeo was created in 1965. Their many trips to livestock shows in Fort Worth, Texas, and Denver, Colorado, sparked the idea of creating an event that could make an economic impact while providing great family entertainment. These visionaries and the many others that followed, including soon-to-be Agriculture Commissioner Jim Buck Ross, truly shaped the foundation of the Dixie National.

Tommy Steiner of Steiner Rodeo Company from Austin, Texas, was convinced to come to Jackson to put on the first Dixie National Rodeo. In 1982, Harper & Morgan Rodeo Company bought Tommy Steiner's promotion company and continued the history of great performances. James Harper and Ralph Morgan, along with their wives, for over 25 years provided quality entertainment and made sure the Dixie National had the best livestock available. In 2002, Stace Smith bought Harper & Morgan Rodeo Company and changed the name to Smith, Harper & Morgan Rodeo Company.

The Dixie National is also the showcase for the 4-H & FFA livestock programs and the livestock industry; not to mention it is also the site of the largest junior market livestock shows in Mississippi. Thousands of livestock exhibitors come from all over the state to be a part of the Dixie National.

The crowing glory of these livestock shows is the Sale of Junior Champions. The sale began in 1970 and has raised approximately $5.5 million for Mississippi 4-H and FFA members. Volunteers started the Dixie National Sale of Junior Champions to encourage youth to continue investing their time and effort into livestock projects. Since 1993, the Dixie National Sale of Junior Champions promotion committee has raised funds for scholarships based on academic achievement and livestock showmanship. To date, they have awarded 502 scholarships totaling $604,700.

Here's a special thanks to all the visionaries and people that have been instrumental in making the excitement, entertainment, economic impact and memories for an event that has grown into a life of its own over its 50 year history and have had an economic impact of over $20 million for the state of Mississippi.

Mississippi Coliseum—State Fairgrounds
JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI

Since its inception, the Dixie National Livestock Show & Rodeo would be known as the biggest livestock show east of the Mississippi River.

The State of Mississippi was proud to offer the livestock world a new showcase for American beef cattle known as the Dixie National Livestock Show.

For many years, Forrest Cox, WJDX-WLBT Farm Director, covered the Dixie National Livestock Show live on the scene at the Mississippi Coliseum with top farm news, farm markets, and other agricultural events.
